

TRIBUTE PAID TO JOHN MARSHALL

Celebration in His Honor
Today Throughout the Whole Country.

SOME OF THE ORATORS

Memorial Exercises in the
Janesville High School
Held Today.

ECOMIUMS ON DEAD JURIST

This is John Marshall day. A little more than one year ago the work of the great chief justice was little known and less studied outside of the legal profession. Today there is a celebration in his honor throughout the length and breadth of the land the like of which the English-speaking races never saw.

Never before in history have the judicial functions of an entire nation ceased for one day in honor of the memory of a member of the bench and bar. Not a single court will open its doors today as a tribute of praise to the man who made the constitution what it is. The foremost orators of the country will speak of his life and his work to millions of hearers. Legislatures of many states have passed resolutions befitting the day and will help celebrate it.

All Cities to Join.
There is hardly a city of any size in the country which has not a well-filled program of exercises in honor of the third chief justice in commission. Colleges and schools, clubs and societies, irrespective of political faith and creed are uniting in a tremendous outpouring of enthusiasm for the great work accomplished by John Marshall. The celebration has passed the dreams of the men who started the movement. Under skillful handling it has grown and taken on strength until it has swept the entire country in one tremendous wave.
In some quarters the false impression has gained ground that the day has been set apart to commemorate the death of John Marshall. On the contrary, it is the centennial of his assumption of the office of chief justice of the United States, supreme court.

Some of the Orators.
Some of the centennial orators of the day and the places where they are to speak are as follows:

Washington—Wayne MacVough.
Detroit—Luther L. Mills.
Chicago—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge.
Yale—Charles E. Perkins.
Harvard—Prof. J. B. Thayer.
Philadelphia—Justice James T. Mitchell.
Baltimore—Charles Marshall, William Pinckney White and Charles J. Bonaparte.
Milwaukee—Neal Brown.
Indianapolis—J. C. Black.
Columbus—Chief Justice Shauk.
The Local Observance.

Something like an hour was spent at the high school this morning in a review of the life of the great jurist.

Introductory remarks were made by W. A. Smith who spoke on the condition of the country at the time the constitution of the United States was adopted and the urgent need of a strong hand and a clear brain to

OVER 45,000 PEOPLE ON PAY ROLLS

Tammany Publishes the Names of Those Who Draw $40,000,000 Yearly in Salaries

New York, Feb. 4.—Some astonishing facts and figures are gathered from the Tammany pay rolls, referred to as "Tammany's Doomsday book" which have just been published.

It shows that 45,000 men and women feed at the Greater New York public crib—an army almost as large as that employed by the United States in putting down the Philippine rebellion. This army draws in salaries and wages $40,000,000 annually out of the city treasury. This is $10,000,000 more per year than the cost of maintaining the United States army at the outbreak of the Spanish war. It is $16,000,000 per year more than it costs to govern the entire state of New York.

So astounding are the many showings made by the report that the press of New York, every member of which is anti-Tammany, seems at a loss for words to express its surprise and indignation. The report shows that 7,000 police are employed at an average salary of $5 per day officers and men.

This causes the Morning Press to

ARTHUR BARNARD RETURNS.

Has Been Distressed by Love Affairs, Not Money Matters.

Chicago, Feb. 4.—Arthur J. Barnard, teller of the Zion bank, who disappeared a week ago, has returned. Dowle sent out a statement in the afternoon stating that Barnard would be reinstated.

"His disappearance," Dowle said, "was due to the fact that he had brooded over two love affairs, Edna Pugh having accepted an invitation to a party to which he had not been invited and from which she was escorted home by the son of her host."

The overseer of Zion says that Barnard's accounts are straight, and he will be given his old position. Mr. Barnard had reached Florida, when he decided to return.

Hint From Emperor Josef.

Vienna, Feb. 4.—The Austrian parliament was opened today by Franz Josef, who hinted that dissolution might become necessary unless the Reichsrath peacefully performed its functions.

DEWET IS CREEPING ON TO CAPE COLONY

French is Near Bethel Driving the Boers Eastward—British Loss is Considerable.

London, Feb. 4.—Kitchener reports that Dewet and his force have reached a point south of Dewetsdorp, indicating that the Boer commander is sweeping rapidly toward Cape Colony. French is near Bethel driving the force of Boers eastward. A column of British under Campbell met five hundred Boers south of Middelburg in Cape Colony, forcing them to retreat. The British lost two officers, eighteen men and four ambulances.

DEFY GOVERNOR NASH

Saengerfest Directors Claim That the Jeffries-Rublin Fight is With in the Law.

Cincinnati, Feb. 4.—The Saengerfest directors today defy the governor to stop the Jeffries-Rublin fight claiming that the law is on their side.

Columbus, Feb. 4.—Governor Nash has instructed Sheriff Taylor of Hamilton county to swear in any number of deputies and use his fullest power to prevent the Jeffries-Rublin fight Feb. 15 at Cincinnati.

The governor directs the sheriff to call on the state for assistance if necessary, and promises support to the fullest extent that it is possible for the state to render.

4,000 SILK MILL GIRLS ON STRIKE

VICTORIA'S REMAINS CONSIGNED TO THE FROGMORE MAUSOLEUM

Body Carried to the Grave with Pomp and Ceremony—"Sleep Thy Last Sleep" Closed the Funeral Services.

Windsor, Feb. 4.—Queen Victoria's body was consigned to its home in Frogmore mausoleum at 3 o'clock this afternoon, and was accompanied to the grave with the same pomp that has marked its progress from Osborne to Windsor. By the express command of King Edward, the last act in the empire's grief drama was a public spectacle instead of a rigidly private function as previously planned.

The march to the mausoleum was accordingly a military show rivaling in splendor the pageant which held London spellbound on Saturday. The grenadier guards bore the royal remains from the Albert memorial chapel, where they rested in solitary state Sunday, to an artillery carriage, and horses which drew them to their eternal shelter beside the body of the queen's beloved consort.

As before, the king, the queen, the kaiser and the other royal mourners followed afoot and troops lined the route. Regimental bands mingled their brass in the dirges. The Bishop of Winchester and the dean of Windsor conducted a brief burial service within the mausoleum inclosure. The hymn, "Sleep Thy Last Sleep," brought the sad ceremony to a close.

Yesterday the royal mourners staying at Windsor castle attended a memorial service in St. George's chapel, and afterward inspected the wealth of floral offerings sent to Windsor by sympathizers from the various points of the compass.

Emperor William to Leave.
The German emperor will leave for Berlin tomorrow. On his arrival in London during the afternoon, accompanied by the king, he will go for a drive through the west end, with an escort of the household cavalry.

The duke of York is reported as "progressing toward convalescence."

ENTIRE STATE OF KANSAS ON VERGE OF A MOST SERIOUS LIQUOR WAR

Mrs. Carrie Nation Has Succeeded in Working Up a Great Temperance Sentiment—Raids Planned in Topeka and Wichita.

Topeka, Kan., Feb. 4.—That Topeka and the entire state of Kansas are on the verge of a liquor war of a most serious character is not doubted by those who have watched the course of events in Topeka during the past week.

Mrs. Carrie Nation has succeeded in working up temperance sentiment in the city until the town is divided into factions and each faction is making active preparations for war, which will probably be begun today.

Opened a Recruiting Office.
Mrs. Nation has opened a recruiting office in the city hall, and has three hundred women armed with hatchets under her command. Many of the husbands and brothers of Mrs. Nation's "Home Defenders" will accompany them on their raids, to see that they are not injured by the saloon keepers and their allies.

Every saloon man in the city has armed himself and his bartenders and guards with shotguns and revolvers, and has given warning that persons attempting to demolish saloons will be shot.

Plot to Tar Mrs. Nation.
Policeman Luster has reported to City Marshal Stahl a plot on the part of the liquor men to tar and feather Mrs. Carrie Nation, the joint smasher. Luster says that a negro tough whom he once befriended gave him the tip. Postmaster Guthrie says that Mrs. Nation receives more mail than any bank in Topeka. Many of the letters contain money, and it is said that Mrs. Nation has already put aside $500 to help carry on the liquor war here.

Plan to Wreck Many Saloons.
Wichita, Kan., Feb. 4.—Mrs. Carrie Nation, at the head of 500 temperance women, will spend a busy week in Kansas before Mrs. Nation leaves for the east. She has planned the raids of a vast number of saloons mostly in Topeka.

Her chief, lieutenant, Mrs. Mary Sheriff, who wrecked three saloons at Anthony Tuesday, will lead the campaign in Southern Kansas, but Wichita is not on their list. The raiding will, according to the announced plans of the women, commence some time today.

200 Women Will March.
In Topeka Mrs. Nation has two hundred women who will march through the streets with her. They will be followed by a brass band. As they approach each saloon Mrs. Nation will march forward, warn the saloon keepers to come out and deliver to her their keys and she will then march in and smash.

Concerning their trip to the east Mrs. Nation says that all plans are made for the invasion of New York, Chicago and other large towns. She has not yet determined as to whether smashing or lecturing the saloon men will be the most profitable.

ROYAL WEDDING AT THE HAGUE FEB 7

Marriage of Queen Wilhelmina Next Thursday—Wedding Trousseau Arrives from Paris.

The Hague, Feb. 4.—The wedding of Queen Wilhelmina and Duke Henry of Mecklenburg-Schwerin will take place on Thursday. There will be both a civil and a religious ceremony.

The former will be held in the Nordende palace in the presence of six witnesses selected from among the members of the Dutch parliament. The religious ceremony will take place in the Grote kerk, which has been chosen on account of its large capacity and historic character. A military escort will accompany the wedding party to the church and it is said the queen will ride in the old royal state coach which has been used for high state festivities since the days of William the Silent.

Representatives of Royalty.
Representatives of all of the courts of Europe will attend the ceremony. Though it is the custom in Holland that five bridesmaids shall follow the bride to the altar Queen Wilhelmina has determined that there shall be none at her wedding. After the wedding breakfast the royal couple will go to the beautiful royal castle not far from the Hague known as Het Loo.

The Queen's Trousseau.
The Hague, Feb. 4.—Twenty-two costumes received here today from Paris for Queen Wilhelmina's wedding tressseau cost $60,000. In order to patronize home industries Wilhelmina ordered her gowns from an Amsterdam dressmaker, but the latter promptly sent them to Paris to have them made by Mme. Nicaude.

The wedding gown is of silver adorned with fine lace. The corsage is surmounted with orange flowers, extending from the left shoulder. The skirt train ends in billow lace.

The wedding dress is of white silk, embroidered with gold and trimmed with rose colored mousseline.

Another gown is of white and antique mauve, the skirt trimmed with Irish Point lace, spreading out from the waist to the bottom of the skirt.

One of the prettiest of the whole collection is a corsage striped with gold.

Blue predominates the color of the most of the gowns and is the favorite of the queen.

Some of the more simple gowns will be made in Amsterdam including one of white cloth, which she will wear on the morning of the wedding day before going to church. This will enable the queen to say that she wore on her wedding day a gown made in her own country.

RUBBER GOODS' DROP DOWN.

Trust Cuts Prices Eighteen Per Cent—Footwear Will Be Cheaper.

Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 4.—The price of rubber boots and shoes made by the United States Rubber company, alias the trust, has been cut. Circulars mailed to jobbers contained the information that the new discount will make the reduction in price about 18 per cent.

The independent manufacturers say that the combination has cut the price in an effort to swamp them.

This is denied at Chicago by General Agent Allen of the trust. He said: "We cut our price because the outside manufacturers have been underselling us. We aren't going to unload $7,000,000 worth of old stock on our jobbers, as the independents say, either."

"Of course, we carry some goods from year to year and probably some of the old stock will be sold on the new discount, but new stock will go with it."

To persons not connected with either the trust or the independents the best word in the transaction is that rubber boots and shoes will cost less money.

WESTERN FARMER

WANTS GOOD WIFE

Here is a Chance for a Woman to Get a Good Home—But the Work Is Hard.

Chicago, Feb. 4.—Chief Kiple's fame as a matrimonial agent has reached Carl Mayhak of Salem, S. D., who wants a wife. The Dakota man's letter is as follows: "Salem, Jan. 30, 1901.—Mr. Kiple—Dear Sir: I am in farm, way out in Dakota, where girls are not so plenty. I find that I have to much work. It takes all my time to do my work and have no time to look after girls. I know that in Chicago are plenty of girls that would like good homes. I am a lover of a home. I can give good references and also ask references. Now, Sir, if you know of any good German or French girl that want a home—they must be good-looking, age about 25 years and make a good wife—I trust that you may have some one for me. Your Truly, Carl Mayhak."

"The letter speaks for itself," Chief Kiple said. "Mrs. Mayhak will have to work hard, but she will not have many rivals. She does not have to be so very young, and South Dakota is a healthy country."

FIVE CHILDREN DIE IN RESIDENCE FIRE

Horrible Calamity Visits Family in Milwaukee—Parents Were Away From Home.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 4.—Five children of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew F. Luebke living at 420 Russell avenue, were suffocated, and Mrs. Belwater, who was with them, was seriously burned as the result of a lamp explosion. The parents of the children were absent from home when the accident occurred. The children's ages range from two to thirteen years. It is not known what caused the lamp to explode. The children were in bed at the time the fire started and were smothered before assistance came. Mrs. Belwater was taken to a hospital.

To Explore the South Polar Sea.
The duke of Abruzzi proposes to start from Buenos Ayres in 1902, on a voyage to explore the south polar seas, in a ship which will be specially built in Italy from his own plans and specifications. He has selected as his companions Vittorio Sella, the geographer, and several young officers of the Italian royal navy.

Chicle Beats Rubber.

The value of the chicle, the basis of chewing gum, that is produced in Mexico is three times as great as that of the country's present rubber product.

FATHER N. A. RIVERS IS SUMMONED HOME

Died at Rockford Mercy Hospital at 9 P. M. Saturday.

MAN OF RARE WISDOM

Requiem Mass This Morning at St. Mary's, and Funeral Tomorrow.

MANY PRIESTS WILL ATTEND

Father N. A. Rivers died at 9:15 Saturday evening at Mercy hospital, Rockford, after years of ill health, several months spent in the hospital and many days of almost total unconsciousness.

Thus ends the life of an earnest and an honest man, one who served God and mankind to the best of his ability, who had attained to much that humanity calls success and who closed his eyes in his last conscious moment with a feeling of unutterable weariness and an intense desire to depart to that better country where as all hope, sorrow and suffering are unknown.

A Native of Vermont.

Father Rivers was a native of Vergennes, Vermont, where he was born in 1844. As a lad he attended the public schools and at the age of fourteen entered the Montreal Seminary which is under the supervision of the order of Sulpicians, noted for their profound learning. The following eleven years were spent in close study.

Here he completed his classical, philosophical and theological courses and in 1874 was ordained a priest by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Henderson of Providence, Rhode Island. He filled various pastorates in that diocese for the succeeding thirteen years.

Poor health moved him to come West to Wisconsin where he spent several years, part of the time at Ripon with his friend, Father W. A. Goebel, now of this city. He did not recuperate as rapidly as he had hoped and decided to move further West this time to British Columbia, where for three years he was stationed as pastor at Rossland, one of the frontier mining towns of that section.

His Duties Were Laborious.

His duties here were very laborious as he was often forced to travel two or three hundred miles on horseback in the performance of his sacerdotal duties. Father Goebel who visited him at this place realized that his labors were beyond his strength and urged him to return to Wisconsin which he did at a later date. He remained a year with Father Goebel as his guest and assistant previous to his

OUR HOMES AND OUR WOMEN, ROCK THE WORLD RESTS ON

Paper on Country Life and Opportunities—Man on the Farm Completely Master of His Own Life—Duties and Influence of the Farmers' Wives.

The following paper was read by Mrs. A. M. Glenn of Janesville, at the Rock County Farmers' convention held at Milton Junction last week. The convention expressed a desire to have it published in The Gazette:

"God made the country and man made the town." What better proof do we need that country life must be purer, nobler, and far superior to city life. We stand on the threshold of a new century, we are steadily moving forward out of the past into the future, and the times demand a greater preparation now to be able to meet opportunity than in the past.

The secret of success in life is for a man to be ready when his opportunity comes. Education must be broad and must strike deep. It is very natural to suppose that there is no place but the city to derive an education. It is an almost universally acknowledged fact that books are essential to a thorough education, and yet at the same time there is a great part of the education of life that must be obtained outside the covers of any books that were ever written. Knowledge, snatched as it were, along the busy pathway of life, and country life as well as city.

The world does not like to see ignorance in common things. It does not admire the person that cultivates the fire by pouring gasoline on the languishing coal, nor the man, who, before retreating blows out the gas, nor the man or boy that "thought the gun was not loaded." It does not compel us to know Latin and Greek, but it does want us to know as much as possible about the every day things all about us, and most men are better pleased when they see a good dinner on the table than when their wife talks Greek.

Time is the one great school master who sets lessons for us all. In the common college the lessons are only appointed for four years, but the lessons for us are marked out each day of our stay on earth, as faithful pupils of the great college of life we must study the new lessons of each new day.

It has been a matter of common observation to those who have studied the tendencies and movements of American society that there is on the part of the youth in the country quite generally an eager, restless desire to get away from farm life and go to the city. The eight hour system in some farms (meaning eight hours in the forenoon and eight in the afternoon) may have something to do with it.

To this class of young people Shakespeare wrote more than two hundred years ago that it was "better to endure the ills we already have than fly to others we know not of," and this remark holds good in its application today.

There are many temptations in city life—self-destruction by gambling, drinking, licentiousness and a thousand other evils that ruin the home.

For centuries it has been the ambition of every city bred Englishman to own some estate in the country where he could put his foot on his own ground and enjoy pure country air and existence, free from the tumult, din, and smoke of city life. "They do not like to have the very air of heaven measured out by the pint."

The man on the farm is more completely master of his own fate than in any other line of business. Not one farmer in a hundred has as hard and laborious a life as a railway president of an average first-class road. While farmers are in a way dependent, they are independent in more ways than any other class of people. Aside from this they are healthier, longer lived, and make, as a rule, the cleanest money.

I must admit that the farmer's wife as a rule does not always have the easiest time in the world. A woman shut up all day with an endless and unending round of labor whose whole life is a narrow routine, the limit of whose horizon is the back kitchen yard and the extent of whose travels is the wood pile and the well, should demand some time for recreation and amusement.

Amid the dust and smoke of battle in their war against dirt and disorder they must also attend to the culinary department and several other separate and distinct branches of labor, to the making and mending of garments, laundering, fruit picking, canning, preserving and pickling, and then that monotonous and endless task—the washing, wiping and putting away of the dishes three times a day, for 365 days in a year, and one additional day every fourth year. Truly she needs a good deal of strength.

of Job to conduct her warfare.

In former ages woman was little else than a cook and domestic of general housework. She has studied both kitchen and parlor and graduated long ago in domestic science and industry. She still retains these venerable sciences, but has added to them her personal liberty and higher education, not from the books, but from personal experience and coming in contact with the world. Thought kindles thought and leads to inquiry.

But it has been discovered that the farmer's wife can use that kind of a horse to good advantage, and now when she starts for a given point, she "gets there" the same day, and enjoys many advantages unknown to her when she drove the old cripple that was not able to do farm work. She is fast discovering that life is what we make it. The world is a looking glass and gives back to every person the reflection of their own face. Frown at it, and it will in turn look surlily upon you, laugh at it and with it, and it is a jolly old world.

Worrying never lightens a burden, or brought a ray of sunshine to a weary heart. Some women worry about the poor heathen and let their own home grow up to weeds and a brood of young American heathens at large. Fifty years hence the cradled babies of today will be on the deck of our great ship of state. Let them be well trained for we are going to leave a big contract on their hands.

In one of these cradles the unconscious president of the future is perhaps at this moment teething and howling in dead earnest, and is perfectly justified too. In another the future renowned astronomer is winking and blinking, with but languid interest in anything outside the "milky way, and in another lies our future historian, and doubtless will continue to lie till his earthly mission is ended.

Farmers might add much to their wives' happiness if they only took time to notice the little things and bestow a word of praise where praise is due. As a general thing, husbands are so exceedingly sparing of approving words, only some great emergency can call forth the words of affection, which, evenly distributed among the days and weeks, would gladden and inspire every member of the family.

God made this world without a flaw, without a hammer or a saw. Away up there alone, above, without a thing to make it of. Without a board or nail or screw, or anything to nail it to. But in accordance with his plan he took some dirt and made a man, and many other things did make, and in them all but one mistake. But this was no mistake in plan. The dirt was bad when he made man. This being the case we must not expect perfection of the city made by man. The city is one great whirlpool, men crowd and rush, hustle and push, but if you notice it's the farmer boy that generally comes to the top.

City men are so busy, home is a place to bolt your food in, and lodge nights, they scarcely have time to get acquainted with the new comers in their own family. A kind man recently volunteered to run the family machine one evening and let his wife go to prayer meeting. When she returned he says, "Wife we have got one child that beats all creation for grit and fighting. It took me one hour but I've conquered him and made him go to bed." Upon examination she found a neighbor's child safely tucked away in bed.

The homes we maintain are the everlasting granite on which the whole world rests, and large intellectual culture is essential to the woman who is the most prominent feature in home making. The whole difference between civilized Europe, half civilized Asia and savage Africa can be accurately measured by the ideas of woman prevailing on these continents. It is the best test of civilization in either a nation, a city or the country community.

The advance of a nation comes only through the improvement of the homes of the nation. Let us uphold and strengthen these homes of ours, whether it be in the busy hum of the city, or the quiet, peaceful country home. Governments, property, religion, books and homes are but the scaffolding to build men.

"Earth holds up to her Master no

SALOON MEN ARE WARNED.

Mrs. Nation Serves Notice on "Joint-keepers" to Quit.

Topeka, Kas., Feb. 4.—Mrs. Nation declares her intention to rid this city of "joints," and has notified the keepers of such places that they must close their places or she will take radical measures to force them out of business. She says she is tired of moral suasion and intends to resort to extreme measures to stop the liquor traffic in Kansas. Yesterday she dictated the following letter to the saloonkeepers here:

"To the Jointkeepers of Topeka—My Dear Hell-Bound Sinners: I have tried to get to see and talk to you, but you do not wish to see one of your best friends. I want you to appoint a meeting with me at any place you shall name, and I shall be more than glad to talk to you. Your master, the devil, has you under his thumb, and you, poor scoundrels, do just what he wants you to do and he makes you believe that there is no escape.

"Don't believe him. Listen to me, your friend. Get out of these hell holes quick and I will help you stay out. I came to rescue you as well as those you are murdering. Do not delay, for he, that often being reproved, hardeneth his neck, shall suddenly be destroyed, and that without remedy." We invite you to join us in the destruction of the machinery hell has set up here on earth to literally devour humanity, for that is the beginning continuance and ending of your work. Should you do as I request you will be safe and happy, otherwise you shall utterly perish. "For if any man fall on this stone he shall be broken, but if this stone fall on him it will grind him to powder." Affectionately,

"MRS. CARRIE NATION."

If no heed is taken of this warning, it is the intention of the temperance workers to form in companies and parade the streets, with a standard bearer carrying the flag in the lead. Mrs. Nation is having no trouble in obtaining volunteers to assist her in her "joint-smashing" crusade. An organization of forty-six women has already been formed. In order to create sentiment favorable to Mrs. Nation's plans, a mass meeting of temperance workers has been called at which Mrs. Nation will speak.

Wipe Out Fifteen Saloons.
St. Joseph, Mo., Feb. 4.—All the saloons in Hiawatha, Kan., some fifteen in number, were wiped out by an infuriated number of temperance workers, and all of the proprietors except one were compelled to leave town in order to escape the wrath of the mob of men, women and children. Revival services have been in progress there for two weeks, and in that time there have been more than 400 conversions. H. A. Eicholtz, a druggist who for years has been one of the most flagrant violators of the prohibition law, was among the converts. With the aid of two evangelists and a host of temperance people he publicly destroyed more than $1,000 worth of his own liquor. He also took the lead in ridding the town of the other dram shops. The furniture as well as the stock of the places was destroyed.

NOTES FROM THE CLUB WOMEN

Rev. Jenkins L. Jones of Chicago, said in a sermon last Sunday that the greatest phenomena of the nineteenth century is the woman's club movement. Its wide distribution, its strength and numbers, its enthusiasm, the time and money devoted to it, make a movement scarcely paralleled in history. Religion and politics can boast of no uprising that seems to be so spontaneous, harmonious and comprehensive in its claim as this movement of women's clubs in the last quarter of the nineteenth century.

The Chicago chapter of the D. A. R. go to Washington next month in a special car to attend the congress of that organization.

It was view day on Friday at the Chicago Art Institute for the Chicago artists of the Archa club.

The Athena class meet on Wednesday next as usual. As they meet only on the first and third Wednesdays of the month there was an interval of three weeks this time instead of the ordinary fortnight. A business meeting is scheduled for the next session. The program committee meets with Mrs. Beers this week to look over the year's books of other club organizations to decide on the next year's work.

The Matheon met on Saturday with Mrs. Sanborn, with the program still on the English colonization of America. The Plymouth colony was treated of by Mrs. Coleman, embracing the Separatists in England, the Mayflower, their communistic practices and their early leaders. The Massachusetts Bay colony was discussed by Mrs. Gilkey. The Puritans with their leaders and religious government, their schools and education, the Quakers, Ann Hutchinson and Roger Williams were touched upon.

A paper on Connecticut by Mrs. Hattie Howe embraced the topics of the troubles with the Dutch and Indi-

SHERLOCK HOLMES A PLEASING PLAY

William Gillette's great play "Sherlock Holmes" was presented to a large and enthusiastic audience at the Myers Grand Saturday night. There is one charm about the play, that it is not of the usual run of pieces presented to the amusement lovers of this city. Detective pieces as a rule deal with motley criminals and a large amount of shooting. In this play the criminals are strongly in evidence, yet not a shot is fired or an assault made before the eyes of the audience. The calm, calculating Holmes, finds a way out of every difficulty without resorting to violence. It was a play where the attention of the audience was riveted on the stage from start to finish.

As Sherlock Holmes, Cuyler Hastings is satisfactory. He has the face, figure and temperament of the ideal. He won a personal triumph and it is difficult to see where Gillette can excel him. Miss Lansing Rowan, cast for the unlabeled part of an adventuresome, showed how well she always does with her opportunities. Harry M. Blake as Doctor Watson, Griffith Evans as Prof. Moriarty, Master George Odell as Billy, and Sidney Honey as Sidney Price were entirely capable. The stage tricks were notably good, the scene in the gas room where Sherlock Holmes escapes from his pursuers by the aid of a lighted cigar being especially clever and the smothering of the lamp soul-stirring. A novel idea was introduced by darkening the theater before raising the curtain, then slowly illuminating the scene showing the stage picture. The same idea prevailed in the closing of a scene.

for some time, why not buy now? We are showing some very desirable styles and as regards Prices

They Are Decidedly Down.

Only yesterday while in the garment section many complaints were being made by the better class of winter garments about the low treatment they were receiving. Just think of paying only $7 for a $22 jacket, or an 18 or a 16, or a $20 one. Large line of Capes for elderly women.

Beau- Mercer- Petti-

tiful ized coats

We have about 200 fine quality mercerized undershirts, all colors, large variety of styles. These skirts only a short time ago were $2.50 to $4.50. To increase the big sales and reduce stock before taking inventory we have put these skirts into 3 Lots and nailed on figures that command attention.

Lot I - $1.69

Lot II - $2.00

Lot III - $2.48

We also mention a new Isabel Skirt made of fancy striped heavy zoned skirting, with adjustable yoke, bottom finished with graduated cording and accordion pleating. This skirt will give excellent satisfaction, the material being firm and strong. As a leader the price is $2.50.

Don't Forget

the substantial bargains we are offering in old lot underwear. Prices stand as low as 10c. Have vests, pants, suits for children, misses, women. Shirts and drawers are excellent. The $2.50 Munsing Suits for misses that we offer at $1.50 are fast disappearing.

CONGRESSIONAL SUBSIDIES.

The persistence exhibited by Frye and some of his colleagues on the ship subsidy bill indicates a spirit of restlessness that is not creditable, and suggests that the unlimited power of congress may be dangerous to public welfare.

It is possible for this little coterie of senators to so block necessary legislation in their ambition to favor a pet scheme, as to embarrass government in various departments. The appropriations that the present session are called upon to make may go over to an extra session, and are very likely to, unless the subsidy bill is disposed of. That means negligence of duty that is inexcusable in a public servant, even though he may wear the title of United States Senator.

The subsidy bill provides for a donation to a few ship companies, of $10,000,000 a year for twenty years.

It means protection for these companies against home competition to the extent of $200,000,000 of the people's money for the same length of time. For this vast expenditure of money the people are to be rewarded by patting themselves on the back, and pointing with pride to the American Merchant Marine.

Pride is a good thing to possess and the American people are not destitute of it.

Every loyal citizen carries his head a little higher, extends his chest, pulls down his "waistcoat" and dons his hat to the Stars and Stripes, whenever his eye catches sight of the emblem, with the glad thought in his heart, "I am an American," but he don't go crazy wild, and offer to sacrifice all his wife's relations to gratify personal pride. That's about what congress is attempting with the ship subsidy bill, on the flimsy pretext of national pride.

Pride to a certain extent is commendable, but beyond certain limits it is dangerous. Many a young man has been left in life because his pride prompted him to trot in a class that was too fast for him. Many a home has been wrecked for the same reason. Churches frequently get ambitious, and pride prompts them to build a $40,000 church to run on a $2,000 income.

Cities sometimes get inflated with pride, as Philadelphia and Chicago did, but it is an open question whether the train of wreckage left in the wake of the Centennial and World's Fair, is a fair equivalent for the gratification of the city's pride.

Unless the subsidy bill enthusiasts have something stronger to produce in argument than national pride, they are destitute of a plea that is worth considering.

American capital and American enterprise are not slow to discover channels for investment, and in good times like the present, they are both willing to take chances. If there is a legitimate demand for ocean going vessels, and if there is any profit in operating them, there is plenty of idle money just now to equip and maintain a fleet of any dimensions.

If there is no demand for this kind of an investment, or if there is no profit for American capital in it, then congress has no right to encourage it by donation under the subterfuge of subsidy.

If Senators Frye, Hanna, et al., want to invest their own capital in the scheme, they have a perfect right to do so, and the people will wish them well, and if the venture should cause them to swell up with pride beyond recognition, "so mote it be," but the common people scattered over the country recognize the fact that while Nature's great waterways are free to all nations, they prefer to travel by land, and have no ambition to make an investment in sea-going craft.

The subsidy bill is, of course, a republican measure. It couldn't be anything else under existing circumstances. It does not follow, because of that fact that it should receive the support of the party or of the press. Like all questions of expediency, it is open to criticism. Public sentiment throughout the west is against it, and it is meeting with more or less opposition in the east. Congress is supposed to take into account the wishes of the people in handling question of this class. A little tour of investigation will satisfy the national law makers that the rank and file of both parties are not clamoring for a ship subsidy bill.

With Mrs. Nation and the sheriff after the saloon keepers, the odds are too great to expect to hold out long. Wanton destruction of property is no remedy for violation of law. The crusade is wanton, idiotic and futile.

HOME INDUSTRIES.

People will learn with regret that F. M. Marzluft & Co. are talking of moving their factory to Milwaukee. The Marzluft industry is recognized as one of Janesville's leading institutions and one that the city can not afford to lose. It would seem as though the principal reason for the move—a lack of room and a lower rate of insurance—might be readily overcome. With the amount of idle money there is in Janesville at present, plenty of money should be readily secured on a long lease, to put up any kind of a building that the company requires, and in a location here insurance rates would be nominal.

If the Marzluft Company will make their wants known, and state what kind of a lease they are willing to make, The Gazette is of the impression that money could be easily found for a building. While Milwaukee may possess some advantages as a manufacturing center it is no better in many respects than Janesville and the establishment of a business in any given locality has its advantages.

The Marzluft Company should be kept in Janesville if it can be done by any reasonable means.

Since the above was written Mr. Marzluft has made a statement and it would seem that arrangements could easily be made to keep the concern in Janesville.

THE ANTI-PASS LAW.

One of the questions before the state legislature is the ratification of the anti-pass law, passed two years ago, so that the question may come before the people two years hence, in the shape of a constitutional amendment.

The law was passed two years ago under protest, because the republican members were afraid to vote against it, and it will be ratified at the present session for the same reason. It was called a reform measure, advanced for political capital and every man who votes for it practically says: "I believe my constituency is afraid to trust me to enact railroad legislation with a pass in my pocket." That expresses an element of weakness that may contain a large degree of truth. At any rate the present legislature cannot afford to do less than ratify the act, so that the voters of that state may have an opportunity to say just how much confidence they have in public servants.

If the amendment carries before the people, the act becomes law for time to come, and the temptation of the iniquitous pass is forever removed. It is possible that Wisconsin needs this kind of protection. If it does, the people should be given opportunity to determine.

Late reports show that the ranks of the Grand Army are rapidly thinning out. It is estimated that the death rate last year exceeded 1,000 per month. Less than 30,000 of the old veterans remain, and in many places posts are being abandoned because there are not enough members left to support them. The passing of the Grand Army, while one of the natural events of the passing of time, has a sad side to it, because of the significance of the organization. The history that will stand out prominently as a reminder of patriotism and sacrifice, will live long after the last veteran has answered the final roll call.

Congressman Cooper is making an effort to have the appropriation for a government building increased to $75,000. Every citizen of Janesville will wish him success. The business of the post office is keeping pace with the growth and prosperity of the city, and the receipts of last year were several thousand dollars in advance of the receipts four years ago. More room and better facilities are needed, and the new building will be thoroughly appreciated.

One of the best inspirations to American statesmen today is the honor and respect of all creeds and classes, for such men as John Marshall, who has always been the personification of justice and patriotism. The fact that any American citizen is eligible for such a position in the hearts of his countrymen is the bulwark of the greatest and most progressive nation on the face of the globe.

The South gave a very few electoral votes to the republicans; nevertheless republican good times come on the just and the unjust alike and the South is being benefitted just the same as if they had voted the right way to get a blessing.

The Clayton-Bulwer treaty is at best a negation and therefore no one will be injured when it is superseded by something positive that cannot help benefitting the commerce of the East and the West.

St. Louis is still complaining about Chicago sewerage; however Mr. Sewage disdains St. Louis' company and passes by on the other side of the river.

The question, "What shall we do with our wife beaters?" is harder to answer than, "What shall we do with our ex-presidents?"

There is not much danger of that large foreign uneducated element endangering the government of Cuba for some time to come.

Confucianism may be just as good as Christianity but we want better evidence than China before we are convinced Mr. Wu.

bring order out of the political chaos that existed.

Judge Fifield treated of Marshall as a federalist opposed to those who stood strongly for state rights. The federalists builded better than they knew, he said, and the result has outshot their wildest dreams. In a hundred years the nation has increased from four to seventy-five millions and the Mississippi valley, which one of the most farseeing thought might be settled in 1,000 years contains more inhabitants many times over than the whole nation at the time of the adoption of the constitution. In conclusion he gave Jackson's toast—"Our federal union it must and shall be preserved."

Expounder of the Constitution.

Hon. A. A. Jackson regarded Marshall from the standpoint of an expounder of the constitution. This, which is a grant of power from the people of the several states to the central government, is the chief of the four great documents in the history of the nation. The other three are the compact of the Mayflower, the Declaration of Independence and the Emancipation Proclamation.

One hundred years ago today Marshall took his seat as chief justice of the supreme court of the United States. His age was forty-six years. He was not a great lawyer nor had he had much experience and he was called upon to interpret a document such as the world had never seen. He did not confine himself to federalistic views nor anti-federalistic, but steered steadily between the two binding himself by what he believed was the intention of the framers.

To do this required supreme good judgment, absolute impartiality and for these great gifts and his skill in using them he is honored today throughout the land. He was forced to strike out in a new line, and with no chart or compass but his own genius as a jurist accomplished a success where the wisest might have failed and not have been ashamed.

Reviewed as a Man.

Judge B. F. Dunwiddie reviewed him as a man and took St. Paul's dissertation on charity as a model for describing his manifold graces. He spoke of his patience, his benevolence, his great love of children, his modesty and the extreme sweetness of his temper. Whether the table was spread with the menu of an ascetic or an epicurean he was entirely satisfied. If things went well or ill he was undisturbed. His courtesy was the kind that recognized the nobility existing in everyone, and his generosity made him regard all men as brothers. The speaker concluded, "He possessed great intellect, great wisdom and great love, which is the greatest of the three."

The lesson drawn from the pictures given of John Marshall by the legal gentlemen presenting them cannot fail to interest the high school pupils in this extraordinary man, who with no show or pretense but simply good sense, good brains and a kind heart has left an ineffaceable stamp upon the legal history of the country. From now on John Marshall will not be simply a name, but a living, breathing personality whom all delight to honor.

New Director of Lick Observatory.

William Wallace Campbell, who has just been elected director of Lick observatory, to succeed the late James E. Keeler, was born on a farm in Hancock county, O., in 1862. He studied astronomy at the University of Michigan under Prof. Schaeberle, and took the chair of mathematics and astronomy at the University of Colorado, and later at Ann Arbor. He has written several text-books.

Example of Humility.

"Some years ago," said Mr. Moody at one of his meetings, "I saw what is called a sensitive plant. I happened to breathe on it, and suddenly it dropped its head; I touched it, and it withered away. Humility is as sensitive as that; it cannot safely be brought out on exhibition."

Mill Hand Becomes a Scholar.

James Owen, B. A., of Balliol college, Oxford, who has just been elected to a modern history fellowship at Pembroke college, is the son of a Lancashire artisan, and himself worked in an Oldham mill when he left school at the age of 13.

DINING ROOM CHAIRS.

Present Day Patterns—Golden and Flemish Oak—About Casters.

So far as present day styles in chairs are concerned, the tendency is very strongly toward a reproduction of colonial patterns. Chairs are now made with not nearly so much wood as a few years ago, when heavy paneled backs and wide wooden frames on the seats were in vogue. The most unfortunate, unworthy production of American manufacture in chairs has been of the type just described, with elaborate embossed designs on the panels and on every conceivable surface. The use of elaborately turned spindles and legs has also, fortunately, gone by. Some turned work, however, such as is shown in one of our illustrations of a Dutch chair, is in good taste.

FASHIONABLE DINING ROOM CHAIRS.

Five ordinary chairs and one arm-chair comprise the usual dining room set. In some custom made furniture the hostess' chair is made two inches higher and somewhat narrower than others. Nearly all dining room chairs are now made with rush bottoms or are upholstered in leather, and the best class of chairs have the back upholstered also. Some of the richest and best effects are produced in chairs of very simple lines, having much leather in the seat and backs studded with brass or leather covered nails.

Not only do the styles change from year to year, but each year shows some new finish in the lead. This year it is golden oak. Many chairs are being finished in Flemish oak to match the dining table and other pieces of furniture. It is a simple matter to have the chairs match the furniture or finish of the dining room, as nearly every manufacturer or dealer can readily finish his chairs as it may be desired. A drawer from the sideboard or a leaf from the dining table furnishes all that is necessary as a pattern for color and finish.

Nearly all heavy dining chairs have casters on the two front legs. The tendency has been to make the seats too small and the backs too high, while ease and comfort ever should be the prime characteristics.

The illustration shows present styles of chairs which are sold at nearly all the larger retail stores, says Boston Cooking School Magazine in conclusion to the foregoing.

GENUINE BLIZZARD STRUCK THE CITY

FURIOUS STORM BROKE ABOUT 7 O'CLOCK LAST NIGHT.

Street Cars Were Stopped by the Drifting Snow—Trains on All the Lines Were Late This Morning—
Storm Was General in This Section of the Country.

The first genuine blizzard of the season struck the city yesterday coming from the north-east. The snow commenced falling about ten o'clock and fell with increasing fury until about seven o'clock when the storm broke. Eddies whirled around the corners and wrapped people hurrying home from the morning church services in white clouds. Umbrellas could not stand before the gale and with heads bent, the hurrying people scudded before the wind or braced against it. Patches of the street and sidewalk were swept bare of snow which piled in drifts through which the pedestrians floundered. The street car tracks were kept clear for a time but finally toward night the running of the cars was discontinued.

The northwest wind held the temperature very uniform there being but little variation during the entire day. The five inches additional snow that fell will make good sleighing. The storm seems to have raged with more fury south of the city than north of it. The trains on all of the railroads were more or less delayed on account of the drifting snow which piled high and made it hard work for the engines pulling heavy trains to get through. The vestibule from Chicago due here at 9:35 over the Chicago & Northwestern did not arrive here until 11:10 and had a hard time in getting this far. The trains from the north were nearly on time. The morning train from the west on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road looked like it had had some hard work getting through. The engine was covered with snow and the cars looked as if they had gone through some heavy drifts.

Very little damage as done the telephone, telegraph, city fire alarms and electric light wires. Those in charge of the systems are congratulating themselves that they escaped so easily.

The hackmen about the city were kept busy until late into the night, belated passengers keeping the telephones hot at their headquarters calling for hacks.

Word has been received that the storm is general throughout the southern part of the state.

Storm in Nearby Towns.

Racine, Wis., Feb. 4.—A snowfall of a foot and a high wind which piled the snow up in places three or four feet deep made a dismal Sunday in this city.

Fort Atkinson, Wis., Feb. 4.—The worst snow storm of the season has been raging here all Sunday. At 10 o'clock p. m. it was still snowing and with the wind blowing a gale from the northeast. About six inches of snow fell.

Beloit, Wis., Feb. 4.—One of the worst blizzards this city has had for years raged here Sunday from 10 o'clock until midnight. Nearly a foot of snow had fallen on the level and the wind piled up in large drifts.

One Dead and One Missing.

Chicago, Feb. 4.—Chicago struggled in the grasp of an old-fashioned snow storm yesterday and last night. If the weather indications are verified the city will have another day of it, with a lower temperature, before the end comes. As a result of yesterday's visitation one man lost his life, a boy is missing and may be dead in a snow drift, and two persons were injured.

The Blizzard's Wide Sweep.

Omaha, Neb., Feb. 4.—Snow storm, accompanied by strong wind, was general throughout Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri, and parts of Wisconsin, Michigan and Indiana. Trains are snowbound on the Missouri Pacific lines in Kansas and are delayed by drifts in many places. Street car traffic is impeded in many cities, and wholly blocked in some. Country electric lines generally abandoned. Texas had a tornado that wrecked numerous houses, killed one person and injured three. Temperature, so far as reported, reached its lowest at Emerson, Neb., where it is zero, though a colder wave follows in the wake of the blizzard. Snow varies in depth from five to twenty-five inches on the level.

Alarm of Fire Last Night.

An alarm of fire turned in from box 41 at the corner of South Franklin and Center street about seven o'clock gave the department a run through the thick of the storm that was raging at that time. They were much pleased when they arrived at the scene of the trouble to find that there was nothing worse than a burning chimney to handle. A foul chimney on Mrs. Conroy's boarding house burning out was the cause of all the trouble, and the department returned to their homes at once thankful that they did not have to throw any water in the storm that was raging at the time.

ANOTHER PIONEER HAS PASSED AWAY

DEATH OF JANE Z. M'LAY, MOTHER OF MRS. ARCHIE REID.

Came to Rock County With Her Father's Family in 1845 and Located at Johnstown—Funeral Services Will Be Held From the Residence Wednesday Afternoon at 1 O'clock.

Jane Zuill McLAY passed peacefully away at her home, 25 Milwaukee avenue on Sunday at 11 p. m. after an illness of a week with pneumonia. Mrs. McLAY was born in July, 1821 in Sterlingshire, Scotland and sailed for America with her father, William Zuill and to brothers and two sisters on May 28, 1845. They came directly to Rock County and located at Johnstown. Since that time her brothers John and Wm. Zuill and sisters, Mary Zuill and Mrs. William Galbraith have passed away.

She was united in marriage to John McLAY, Feb. 23, 1854 and resided with him upon his farm in Johnstown until his death, which occurred in July, 1887. She then removed to this city and took up her residence at 25 Milwaukee avenue where she resided at the time of her death. She was the mother of five children four of whom survive her and mourn her taking away.

They are Wm. McLAY of this city, David J. and James Z. of Johnstown and Mrs. Archie Reid. She was a charter member of the Rock Prairie United Presbyterian church and was a Christian woman whose quiet ways and attention to her own affairs made for her unnumbered friends throughout Rock Prairie and the City of Janesville. Her ambition was never to say an unkind word to anyone and be a friend to all. She was a model woman and too much cannot be said in her favor.

The funeral services will be held from her home, 25 Milwaukee avenue on Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock. The Rev. S. G. Huey assisted by Rev. J. T. Henderson will conduct the services. The interment will be at Johnstown Center.

A NARROW ESCAPE BY ASPHYXIA

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williams, who reside on Madison street in the First ward had a narrow escape from asphyxiation by coal gas, at their home on Saturday night.

Before going to bed Mr. Williams filled the coal stove in the room and in some way a piece of coal wedged in between the lid and the top of the stove allowing the gas to escape in large quantities.

Mrs. Williams awoke the next morning about six o'clock and feeling very queer she realized that something was wrong and got out of bed, but did not have strength enough to stand and fell back onto the bed. This aroused her husband, he realized what was the matter jumped up and had reached the door when his strength gave out and he was unable to open it.

His wife revived and made an attempt to open the door but fell before she reached it. Her husband made one more attempt and succeeded in getting the door open before his strength again left him. The door opened out-of-doors and the fresh air striking them revived them so they were able to soon be out of danger. A short time more and it would have been too late for them to have helped themselves and they might have died before they received help from the neighbors.

SHREDDED WHEAT BISCUITS

Some people have asked us what we are doing with shredded wheat biscuits? Simply this, being a quiet time and having a little corner to spare, we gratuitously gave the space to the Shredded Wheat Co., and naturally derive some benefit by the publicity it gives us. Furthermore, it interests about twenty five grocers who get some benefit through present and future sales of the article advertised. See?

Linen, Glass, China, Etc.

The tablecloth, according to the latest fashion, should have a wide border made of lace to correspond with the centerpiece. The doilies match, of course, also. It is only as a last resort that we use the once universal table runner, but one cannot deny the merits of this useful little strip of lace or embroidery that just embellishes the center of too simple expanses of white damask. Ribbons are still used, but are less a la mode than the heavy gulfure insertions and borders, and they are infinitely more suitable for bedroom use. There is something harmonious with china and glass and food somehow in these pink and blue sashes employed on table linen.

For pillowcases and linen bed covers, however, they are charming.

Glass and china are very beautiful now and are considered the most important part of the dinner equipage. Cut glass or simple glass, with the monogram in gold, is perhaps more in vogue than the engraved specimens. The best houses use china, with a simple gold rim and crest or monogram in gold, for dinner service, though a great deal of handsome colored china is also used by those who are fortunate enough to possess it. There are beautiful services of cabochon glass, in pale green or mauve. These, for people who admire the "new art" style, are very suitable in conjunction with old oak or stained green wood furniture. Table decorations are all quite low this season, but a very smart novelty occurs in two stands at either end of the long table, from which are festooned chains of roses, single blooms, softened by asparagus fern. In the stands, among the blooms, are bulbs of electric light yellow with thin foliage. Orchids look well in soft green slender vases. Art nouveau is essentially their environment. Tulle is no longer used. Satin ribbons or moire sometimes appears, but the mode is often simplicity itself where floral decorations are concerned.

Deviled Turkey Bones.

Take the leg, back and wing bones of a turkey, score them a little with a knife, butter them well, then lay made mustard thickly over, sprinkle cayenne or common pepper on and broil. Serve very hot. These are a nice hot supper dish.

A Lyric For Art Students.

Oh, denim has color and tone,
And burlap has texture and line;
Old fish nets are catchy
When cooped up and patchy,
And gunny sack curtains are fine!
Oh, charming the hues that are shown
In the matting that comes around teal!
You can make an art couch
Where your callers may slouch
Just as easy as easy can be.
The Turkish effect has been known
To be easily got very cheap.
With a little old junk
And pillow and trunk
And a well hidden place where you sleep—
—Gilett Burgess.

Our First Savings Bank.

The first savings bank established in the United States was in Philadelphia, which opened Dec. 2, 1816. It is said that the first deposit made in this bank was the sum of 3s, handed over the counter by a boy. This bank was entitled "The Savings Fund Society of Philadelphia." The first bank of this kind established in New York was chartered Nov. 25, 1816, and went into business July 3, 1819.

REVIVAL MEETINGS AT FIRST CHURCH

Mr. Anthony, a Fine Speaker, is Conducting Powerful Evangelical Services Every Night.

The regular morning service at the First M. E. church will never be forgotten by the large congregation present.

After the preliminary services the pastor introduced Mr. Anthony who preached a powerful sermon from John 17: 8. "And this is life eternal that they might know thee the only true God and Jesus Christ whom Thou hast sent." A large number came to the altar as seekers. Mr. Anthony is a fine speaker, a traveling salesman, but spends some time in each year in evangelistic work. He will be at the First M. E. church for one week only. Services every afternoon at 3 o'clock and in the evening at 7:30 Saturday excepted.

ACCIDENT TO TRAIN DELAYS TRAFFIC

Journal on a Freight Truck Burns Off and Northwestern Yards Are Blocked for an Hour.

The 10:10 train on the Chicago & Northwestern road was delayed about an hour this morning by a portion of a freight train that was left standing on the cut off about a mile and a half north of the city. The freight gets in here from Madison about 9:30 and when just north of the city it was discovered that a journal of one of the trucks of a freight car had burned off and was liable to ditch the train. A stop was made and the train cut in two sections and the first brought to this city. The wrecking crew was at once sent out and a new set of trucks placed under the car and the balance of the train brought to this city. No damage was done other than delaying the passenger.

MODERN PRESCRIBING

Doctors Methods Better Than They Were
Years Ago.

The Patient's Lot Also Much Improved.

Large Doses of Nauseating Medicine No Longer Necessary.

Our forefathers did not have such a delightful time, after all. Just think of the round-about way they were obliged to accomplish many things that are done by us every day, almost without thought, by means of modern inventions. Then think of what happened to them when they were sick. Lucky was the man who was not pounced upon by a doctor and often literally bled to death.

That was only a starter of what was soon to follow. Long, deep draughts brewed from horrible-tasting herbs were continually administered. Remedies without number, each worse than the other, followed quickly. No wonder so many of our ancestors died young. No wonder life insurance statistics show that we come from a short-lived race.

It is in medicine like everything else. The day of barbarism in treatment is nearly over. No longer does the doctor deprive his patient of his very life's blood right at a time when he needs every particle of strength. No longer does he compel the poor sufferer to absorb untold amounts of barks, herbs and mineral solutions right at a time when Nature should be left to herself to straighten out what might only be a slight trouble.

The modern physician knows that he can administer the vital principles of his remedies in a concentrated form. You do not find your doctor brewing a tea or asking you to chew large quantities of Cinchona Bark where Quinine is necessary. No longer does he administer a bolus of opium to deaden pain. Not much. A hypodermic syringe charged with the active principles of opium; morphine does the work better and does not do as much damage for Nature to repair.

Right on this line comes news of a recent discovery that will undoubtedly prove the most valuable one yet made. It is that of Vinol, Wine of Cod Liver Oil, which is nothing more nor less than a concentrated extract of the active medicinal principles found in the liver of the live cod.

The above explanation is about all that is necessary to give one, in order that he may understand the full value of this discovery. Every one knows the uses for which cod liver oil has been prescribed. Every one knows its objectionable features. Every one realizes that there are many cases of wasting diseases that could have been cured by cod liver oil, had it been possible to administer the obnoxious remedy; but every one does not know that when they were taking cod liver oil in its old form they were absorbing into the system a vast amount of vile-smelling, obnoxious tasting grease that was absolutely powerless of doing them any good, but were simply taking it because it was a vehicle that conveyed the peculiar medicinal principles that it was the intention of the doctor to give to them.

Here is where this new discovery will benefit the world. These principles separated from the fat and all other unnecessary features, dissolved in a delicious table wine, can now be administered even to the most delicate patient without its being apparent that cod liver oil or anything connected with it is being taken. The greater strength of the new preparation will also enable the patient to receive a greater amount of necessary medicine than was possible to administer before. The consequences will be that the good for which the medicine is desired will be accomplished in a much quicker time. The harm that was formerly caused to stomachs already weakened by disease will be entirely averted and the result will be that Vinol in but a few years will entirely supersede, as a medicine, cod liver oil in any other known form.

Eighteen Redskins in Jail.

Muskegon, I. T., Feb. 4.—Chitto Harjo or Crazy Snake, the leader of the warring Creek Indians, and seventeen of the minor leaders, have been landed in the federal jail here, where they will be held pending trial for treason. The Indians were brought here from Henrietta under escort of troop A, eighth cavalry, and United States Marshal Bennett and his posse. It is stated that certain attorneys who misled the Indians may be prosecuted. Marshal Bennett says that while most of the Indians are in hiding some are still trying to hold meetings. A posse will be sent to arrest Chief Latah Micco, the real chief of the Creeks. Harjo denies the Indians had any intention of killing whites.

Minister Shot by Jesuit Man.

New York, Feb. 4.—The Rev. John Keller, secretary to the Rt. Rev. Bishop Starkey, pastor of Trinity Episcopal Mission in Arlington, N. J., and chaplain of the First New Jersey regiment, was shot and seriously wounded by Thomas G. Barker in Arlington. Mr. Keller had just left the house of John S. Sands, where he had his meals, when Barker opened fire. One bullet went through the facial bone from the right side and destroyed the sight of the right eye. Another bullet shattered the fingers of the right hand, and another passed through the clergyman's hat. The fourth went wide of its mark. The shooting, it is said, was the result of a disclosure made by Barker's wife.

Treasure Is Blown to Pieces.

Muncie, Ind., Feb. 4.—The Indiana natural gas belt, with a circumference of 300 miles, was given a thorough shaking with another nitroglycerin explosion on the Washington Painter farm, fifteen miles west of Muncie, and only fragments of a team of horses and two ribs and a finger of the man in charge can be found. Perry Fort, aged 45, of Knightstown, was hauling 700 quarts of nitroglycerin to the magazine of the Painter farm for use in the oil wells and the explosion occurred while the man was unloading the stuff from the wagon.

Tried to Kill Gen. Masloff.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 4.—A man named Pavloff, who had been condemned to banishment to the Archangel government, fired twice at General Masloff, the chief of direction of military sentences. The general, however, escaped uninjured. Pavloff has been here on two weeks' leave, visiting his invalid mother. He had unsuccessfully tried to persuade General Masloff to procure a mitigation of his sentence.

Parents Charged with Cruelty.

Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 4.—Michael Wett and his wife Augusta, living in Bolo, have been placed in jail on a warrant sworn out by their son, charging them with assaulting and beating their daughter Anna, a weak-minded girl 18 years old. The girl is injured about the head and face and also internally, and it is thought she will die.

Shot Down by an Assassin.

Bloomington, Pa., Feb. 4.—Thomas McHenry, a prominent lumber merchant and wealthy farmer living one mile north of Rohrsburg, this county, was shot by an unknown assassin at 1 o'clock this morning and died a few hours later.

Cattle Growers to Meet.

Denver, Col., Feb. 4.—A call for the first annual convention of the American Cattle Growers' association, to be held in Denver March 5, has been issued. The call says: "This convention is the result of a meeting of a large number of prominent growers of cattle from many states and territories held in Salt Lake City on the evening of Jan. 17, 1901, to consider the question whether there should be formed a general organization to promote and protect the industry of cattle growing."

Methodists Want New Hymns.

Chicago, Feb. 4.—The special committee appointed at the last general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church held in Chicago in May, 1900, to revise the hymnal, has sent out letters asking ministers for suggestions. It really amounts to a mail vote, as each preacher will send in a list of hymns to be dropped from the hymnal now in use.

Favorable to Winter Wheat.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—The crop division of the weather bureau reports that the weather conditions during January were generally favorable for winter wheat, although adverse reports were received from Kansas, Missouri and Texas of lack of moisture, and from Kentucky, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Maryland of injury by alternate freezing and thawing and lack of snow protection. At the close of the month the condition of wheat was about the average in most sections, excepting Michigan, Kentucky and Tennessee, notwithstanding continued reports of damage to the early sown by Hessian fly, in some portions of Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Virginia. The crop is suffering from drought in Texas and Western Kansas, and needs rain in some districts of Missouri.

Winona Assembly Enlarged.

Warsaw, Ind., Feb. 4.—The directors of the Winona Assembly association have added 155 acres to their grounds, 135 acres of which were bought recently of the Beyer Bros. for $16,500, the other twenty acres having been acquired at the close of the season last fall. This land adjoins the assembly grounds on the east and south and gives the association 417 acres. Ninety of the 135 acres, which includes the tract on which "Chicago Hill" is located, will be used for cottage purposes. The other forty-five will be used for growing fruits and vegetables for the Boys' Industrial School, which the directors plan to establish. As a feature of the school the assembly management hopes to induce Andrew Carnegie to give a library and a fund for its maintenance.

Venezuela to Oust Americans.

Port of Spain, Trinidad, Feb. 4.—The Venezuelan government continues to maintain a defiant attitude toward the United States. The report is now circulated that President Castro, having troops at his disposal in the eastern provinces since his victory there over the insurgents, will send a regiment to dispossess the Americans at Pitch Lake. The company will resist, but no doubt it will be ousted if the threatened attempt is made, unless large reinforcements are received. Grave complications would inevitably ensue. Mr. Loomis, the United States minister, is trying to compose matters, but he is met in an unfriendly spirit by the government of Venezuela.

Robs United States Mint.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 4.—Secret service men solved the mystery of the disappearance of coins from the United States mint here and arrested Joseph Swope, a snifter, the man who has during the last two years stolen hundreds, perhaps thousands, of dollars. Swope confessed, saying he had been stealing from $2 to $4 a day. The coins that are to be resmelted are weighed and then placed in large boxes, from which they are scooped out by the men by hand and put into the crucibles. The smelters wear heavy huckskin gloves, and Swope wore gloves several sizes too large for him, and when he would scoop up the coins some of them would slip into the gloves.

There is no poison so highly contagious, so deceptive and so destructive. Don't be too sure you are cured because all external signs of the disease have disappeared, and the doctor says you are well. ## FATHER N. A. RIVERS IS SUMMONED HOME going to Beloit as assistant pastor of St. Thomas church.

Some months ago he was prevailed upon to go to Mercy hospital, Rockford, for the disease from which he was suffering called for expert treatment.

Up to about New Year's he appeared to be improving and wrote to his friends in Janesville that his further detention in the hospital would be short, but a most unfavorable change in his condition took place, delirium was present at times and since then the progress of the disease has been steady if not rapid. During his stay at the hospital Father Geobel has visited him two or three times a week and nothing was left undone that skill or affection could suggest to prolong his life or alleviate his sufferings.

An Attractive Personality.

Father Rivers had an unusually attractive personality. He was a very learned man, was a fluent and convincing speaker, and was especially interested in the young people to whom he was guide, companion and friend. During his stay in Janesville he endeared himself to all classes by the urbanity of his manner, the rectitude of his life and by his unwearying efforts to make the world better and happier. He was one whom the community could ill afford to lose.

The Funeral Tomorrow.

Father Geobel and D. Ryan left for Rockford yesterday afternoon and returned at 8:05 this morning with the remains. Requiem mass was said at 9 a. m. at St. Mary's church and the body has been in the church all day and will be until after the funeral services.

Tomorrow at 9:30 a. m. the attending clergy will begin the office for the dead. Solemn high mass will be conducted at 10. The Gregorian plain chant will be rendered by the united choirs of St. Thomas' church of Beloit and St. Patrick's and St. Mary's of this city.

Father Boucher of Fond du Lac will act as celebrant with Dean E. M. McGinnity as deacon and Rev. J. H. Harty of Rockford, Ill., as sub deacon. Father Geobel will be the master of ceremonies, and Charles Bier of St. Francis seminary will act as thurifer. The sermon will be preached by Rev. M. J. Ward of Beloit. About twenty-five priests will be present.

TO PLACE A TAX ON BADGER MORTGAGES

Bill is Introduced Which is Aimed at Holders of That Kind of Property.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 4.—The Wisconsin State Tax commission proposes to get after mortgage holders and to put one form of personal property upon the tax roll which has so long escaped. To that end it has prepared a bill, which Assemblyman Frost will introduce this week. It proposes to tax only unincumbered property, and to assess mortgages and property upon the same basis.

Assemblyman Orton who is drawing a bill providing for the restoration of capital punishment for murder, is also preparing to introduce a bill providing severe punishment for the crime of kidnapping.

Mr. Karel of Milwaukee has introduced a bill to make effectual the constitutional amendment adopted in 1885, by which women were empowered to vote at school elections. The supreme court subsequently ruled that the act based on the amendment was "not fully executing, and required further legislation." The act failed to provide for separate ballot boxes, thus rendering it impossible for women to vote.

The bill comes from Mrs. Rublee A. Cole of Milwaukee, who was delegated by the Federation of Women's Clubs to look after legislation.

A bill will be introduced this week for the regulation of college fraternities. The measure was drawn by a university man. It proposes to place the Greek letter societies under the control of the faculties.

Will Debate for Wisconsin.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 4.—Peter Tscharner of Alma, Wis.; A. V. Smith of Waukegan, Ill., and William E. Smith of Madison, were chosen to represent the University of Wisconsin in the debate with Iowa this spring.

BOERS ARE AGAIN VICTORS.

Post Near Krugersdorp Is Taken from British.

London, Feb. 4.—The war office issues a dispatch from General Kitchener dated Pretoria, February 2, saying that a force of Boers attacked the British post at Modderfontein, on the Gats Rand, southwest of Krugersdorp. A relief column failed to prevent the fall of the place. No details of the fighting have been received, but the officers and men who were captured were released and are arriving at Vereeniging.

WILL TRY TO SETTLE STRIKE.

National Foundrymen's Association and Molders' Union to Confer.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 4.—A conference will be held in this city next Thursday between the National Foundrymen's association and the officers of the International Molders' Union of America to try to effect a settlement that will end the seven months' strike that has been on between these two organizations. Both employers and employees are stubborn in holding to their respective views and both are loath to yield.

The employers say the union wishes to dictate to them in the management of their business, and the workmen assert that the foundrymen's association is trying to destroy their union. Neither side to the coming conference will admit that it has taken the initiative, and no statements are made as to what is liable to take place at the conference.

The foundrymen's association states that it will not desert the men who have stood by it in the time of trouble.
The situation all over the country will be discussed. The foundrymen, it is said, will advance the resolutions known as the Detroit resolutions, which provides in a measure for open shops and piece work.

The foundrymen's association has a combined capital of $128,000,000.
